

King's Lynne

King's Lynn (for which this tune is named), known until 1537 as Bishop's Lynn. It is a seaport and market town in Norfolk, England. "King's Lynne" is an English folk tune which was adapted by Vaughan Williams as a hymn tune. It was used in the Lutheran Book of Worship (#177-178) as a setting for the lyric "By all your saints in warfare". It is similar to "Pilgrim" which appears in both The Sacred Harp and The Southern Harmony. The banjo arrangement uses G modal tuning which is completely unrelated to the vocal setting.
